WORLD'S GRAIN EXHIBITION

Hardly a day passes without at least one item in the daily press announcing the intention of a foreign government to participate in the 1932 World Grain Exhibition and Conference, in Regina, No.

For many years has an agricultural event attracted the world-wide attention across the Exhibition and Conference; grain growers everywhere seek to recognize in it the opportunity to present to the world the products of their soil.

There may be similar congresses in the future but the next one may not occur until the present generation of grain growers are no longer in the world to realize the organization of a show on the grand scale of the 1932 scheme requires years of preparation and the expenditure of great sums of money.

Next year will see world expositions definitely settled for some years. There has never been a time when the World Grain Exhibition has been used thus in present to further the attention of the world on our grain growing ability. Our wheat is the most self-sufficient in the world, and it is a fact that from half a dozen countries; our position as a wheat export country is being seriously challenged. These last few years have been a time when the world has been looking to the future lies in the maintaining of the quality of our product, and in improving the quality to the extent of the present.

Regina, No. 1. Our farmers realize their coats must be reduced, and many of them are satisfied this may be most effectively done by stopping up a notch or two the expense of their grain.

If Western Canada can emerge from the 1932 Grain Exhibition and Conference with flying colors, and if her growers can win a major share of the top honors, we venture to say the benefits will only be in the magnitude those attending any other system possible of increasing the net of Canadian grain. One can only hope that the first place awards for wheat, wheat, and wheat, are these something that can be used to the benefit of the country. It is something that is being done in the favor of European millers. It is long run quality will tell in our marketing efforts, we have the quality, that has long since been proven, the Congress affords us an opportunity of demonstrating the facts to the world at large, and on a scale previously undreamed of.

The opportunity is ours. What are we going to do about it? The officials of the Exhibition have made no complaint respecting an article from the West, but those who are doing unnecessary work in the half of the country, and who are of restricted and who appreciate the possibilities of the Exhibition, and the officials who seek high places for their province in it, tell us there is not the enthusiasm about this show that there ought to be.

Why is this? It may be too many men think the show is too "professional"; that the laymen has no chance. This is not correct. These "professionals" are not "professionals" and with the facilities existing today for the securing of competent advice and assistance, and the possibility of improving of exhibition grain, there is no reason why the man who has had little or no experience must be shown this show that there ought to be.

It is to be hoped that before it is too late the grain growers of Western Canada will see in the Exhibition and Conference an opportunity to render a service to their community and, making their arrangements as methodically and carefully as possible, enter their exhibits in such numbers that there will be no question in the minds of other competitors regarding the position occupied by those Western provinces in the grain-growing world.

SUMMER CARE OF THE BABY

There are conditions which occur during the hot weather, which are apt to cause upset and disease among babies. For this reason, it is necessary that special attention be given to certain points in order to keep the baby healthy and comfortable, and to protect him from disease during the summer months.

When the weather is hot, a bath, morning and night, is desirable. In the morning, the baby should be bathed in lukewarm water, and in the evening, in cool water. The water should be changed frequently, and the baby should be dried thoroughly.

Many babies have a very uncomfortable time during the warm weather because their feet are over-clothed. But only are they made uncomfortable by their feet, but their sleep is disturbed, and they are often restless.

The baby should be dressed according to the temperature. In the time of the summer, a diaper, short, or a diaper and a short, sleeveless shirt, are sufficient clothing for a really hot summer day.

During the summer, the baby should be kept cool, and not over-clothed. The baby should be bathed frequently, and the water should be changed frequently.
